GOVERNOR SPROUL WILL SPEAK HERE

Has Accepted Invitation to Address College Seniors on Commencement Day.

WAS HONORED LAST YEAR

Gettysburg Second School which Gave Governor L.L.D. Dr. Larsen will Deliver Baccalaureate.

William C. Sproul, Governor of Pennsylvania, will address the Senior Class of Gettysburg College at the commencement exercises to be held in Brua Chapel on June eleventh.

About three weeks ago Dr. Granville wrote to Governor Sproul requesting him to be the main speaker of commencement day, and recently received a reply from the Governor stating that he would accept the invitation with pleasure.

Governor Sproul feels very kindly toward Gettysburg College as this was the first institution to award him the degree of Doctor of Laws with the exception of his own Alma Mater, Swarthmore.

At the 1917 December meeting of the Board of Trustees, one of Mr. Sproul's many friends among the Gettysburg alumni proposed his name for the degree of Doctor of Laws. Both the Committee of Honorary Degrees and the Board acted favorably upon the proposal and Mr. Sproul received the degree L.L.D. on commencement day, May 15, of last year.

Since that time several institutions, including the University of Pennsylvania, have conferred degrees upon Governor Sproul but Gettysburg has the distinction of having awarded him the honor before he announced his candidacy for the governorship. He received recognition from this institution on account of his prominence in the commercial world and his conception of the "Sproul Road Bill."

Another prominent speaker for commencement week has been secured in the personage of Dr. Lauritz Larsen D. D., of Washington, D. C., the executive secretary of the National Lutheran Council, who will deliver the baccalaureate sermon. Dr. Larsen has been one of the foremost workers in that organization since the outbreak of the war.

The National Lutheran Council is a body formed by all the branches of the Lutheran denomination, with the exception of one, in the United States, and is used by congregations of that church as a medium to care for their members who are in the service of their country.

Owing to the conditions which existed during 1917 and 1918, commencement exercises at college were greatly curtailed. Class Day, fraternity banquets and smokers, athletic events, the Pan-Hellenic dance and other events which contribute to the pleasure of the alumni were all omitted.

This year, however, a great number of the "old grads" are expected to return to renew their college days. With men of the prominence of Governor Sproul and Dr. Larsen on the program and the fact that there has not been a typical commencement for three years, it is expected that returning alumni will literally fill the streets of town.

A new feature which will no doubt stimulate the interest of the alumni is the Inter-Fraternity Peace Reunion which will be held on the night of June 10 after the President's reception. It is planned to have a mammoth smoker where the returned soldiers and sailors will give accounts of their experiences during the great war.

CHARLES FISSEL SERIOUSLY HURT

Axe Caught on Clothes Line. Skull Fractured. Taken to Harrisburg Hospital.

By accidentally slashing himself in the head with an axe, Charles Fissel, who lives about one-half mile from Gettysburg on the Taneytown road, inflicted a wound which may prove fatal.

At about five thirty o'clock, Thursday evening, Fissel was chopping wood and as he swung the axe to make a stroke it caught on a clothes line, deflected to one side, and struck him above the right eye, causing a fracture three inches in length.

Immediately after the accident Fissel was brought to Dr. Crist's office. The fractured skull had compressed the brain and part of it was exposed. He was at once sent to the Harrisburg Hospital where Dr. Harvey Smith will perform an operation.

Mr. Fissel is a man in the neighborhood of fifty years of age. For the past several years he pursued his trade as a carpenter at the Gettysburg and Middletown Army camps and only recently returned to his father's home on the Taneytown road. He has two sons in the United States Army.

Detective Wilson Places Three Suspicious Characters in Lock-Up.

Three strange negroes were arrested along the Western Maryland tracks, west of town, by Detective Charles Wilson this morning.

Several citizens of town noticed the three men at various times on Thursday night, standing in dark corners and conversing in low tones. On account of their general appearance they were placed in the lock-up as suspicious characters.

ALLIES MUST INTERVENE

General Paris Says Germans will soon Control Russia.

(By Associated Press) Honolulu, March 14—General Robert Paris, of the French Army, returning from Siberia, where he was associated with the Czech-Slovak command, said to-day that unless the Allies intervened immediately with sufficient forces, the Bolsheviks would overwhelm Siberia and the Germans would again have an unbreakable grip in Russia.

He said the Czechs, having lost one half their strength and being worn out without supplies, were withdrawing and leaving Siberia helpless. The condition is growing steadily worse.

SEED CORN TESTS ARE UNDER WAY

In Schools Throughout County. School and Community Day will be Celebrated.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Tests have Increased Interest in School Work. Great Rivalry Exists Among Students.

Plans have been completed by H. Milton Roth, Superintendent of Schools, for the third annual seed corn testing school and community day. The work this year will not be conducted just as it has been before. Last year all of the schools held their corn testing on the same day, while this year the schools will choose any day during March or April.

Fairfield schools held their community day Wednesday, Hunterstown's takes place this evening. On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, the Arendtsville Vocational school will hold a large community institute at which time prominent agriculturists of the state will make addresses.

Corn is one of the most important farm crops of Adams county and its most economic production is encouraged through applied teaching in the rural schools. These germinating contests not only are attracting the boys to agricultural work, but are helping the farmers to get the best seed corn. Judging teams composed of farmers are picked, while in some instances the students from the various township schools are chosen and they decide the winners of the banners presented at each community day.

The purposes of this project, as stated by Superintendent Roth, are to co-ordinate the interests of the farm, home and school, to demonstrate the value of testing corn before planting, to vitalize school work by appealing to the desires of the pupils and to rally parents to the support of the school.

Last year seed corn testing was of great value to the farmers of the county, because much of the corn was unfit for seeding purposes. The tests conducted in the rural schools enabled many a planter to choose the proper corn to use.

Seed corn testing is not an easy process to follow. It requires from eight to ten days to complete it, and the pupil must have a thorough knowledge of how to handle the corn in the various stages of germination.

Each student is requested to bring ten ears of corn and from each ear is selected six grains for the test. These grains are placed on what is called the rag doll seed tester, made of white absorbent material which is marked off in squares for the grains of each ear. This tester is then placed in a bucket so equipped that the grains will get the proper amount of air moisture and warmth. With these three elements, if life is present, there will be seed germination.

From the results of these tests the value of the ear is accurately determined. The ears are then graded according to the number of grains from each that germinated. Frequently ears are tested that show one hundred per cent value as seed corn.

The plan has aroused great rivalry among the school boys of the county to see which one can bring the corn that will make the best test. Parents and farmers have shown as much interest in the matter as their children in many sections of the county.

BAND IS MAKING RAPID PROGRESS

Practicing Rags and High Class Music for Summer Concerts. Use Latest Selections.

Gettysburg people are going to be entertained by high class music this summer if the band continues to progress with the speed it has shown during the past several weeks.

Practices are held every week and the number of men turning out every Monday night and the enthusiasm for the work which they show predicts great success for the band's future. At the last practice there was a full attendance including the Snyder brothers and Emory Gitt from Yoost's store.

Not only is the band practicing a variety of dreamy waltzes and classical music but the ever popular "Jazz" will be the feature of many of the summer concerts. "Slippery Success" is one of the raggy kind that even starts the chairs and tables moving.

"Smiles," "Till We Meet Again," "Cheer Up Mother, Cheer Up Father," "Bits of Remick's Hits," and "Medolark" are other popular pieces which are being practiced every week by the band.

DR. CLARK COMING

Founder of Christian Endeavor here Next Thursday.

The visit of Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder of the world Christian Endeavor movement, has been changed from March 22nd to March 20th. Dr. Clark is the last surviving founder of a great religious movement and Gettysburg is fortunate in having the privilege of hearing him.

The Christian Endeavor Societies of the county are going to send delegates, as are a number of societies from neighboring counties.

The meeting will be held in St. James Lutheran church, beginning with a song service at seven-thirty.

Dr. Clark will be entertained while here by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Singmaster.

SOPHOMORES WIN

The Meade School five met defeat at the hands of the Sophomore Class of High School Wednesday night by a score of 32-17. At the end of the first half, the score was 15-6 in favor of Meade School. The Sophomores came back the second half and only allowed Meade School 2 points while they annexed 26 points. Rebert was the leading player for Meade School while "Bob" Martin and Hunter's scoring brought the score up for the Sophomores. Buehler's playing also featured.

SLIGHT FIRE

Property of William Leib, Near Bermudian, Destroyed.

Fire of unknown origin Wednesday evening destroyed the summer kitchen and kitchen of the home of William Leib, near Bermudian. The loss, about $400, is partly covered by insurance. Timely discovery of the blaze enabled a bucket brigade of about fifty people to save the dwelling. Mr. Leib was on a couch reading a paper, when neighbors informed him that his house was on fire. The meat of five hogs, flour and bin, and a set of harness were also destroyed.

LETTER TELLS OF SON'S DEATH

Mrs. Robert Mickley Receives Letter from Friend of Son, who was Killed

DIED GOING FORWARD

Company was Widely Scattered. Andrew Mickley Buried at Montaucon. Few Old Men Left.

Mrs. Robert Mickley, of South Washington street, has received a letter from A. R. Musselman, a friend of her son, Andrew Mickley, who was killed in action in France. The letter follows:

"I should have written to you before this and told you all I know about Andrew, but I knew so little that it seemed unnecessary to say anything. By this I mean that I know very little about his death.

"From the time I went to Camp Meade (November 6, 1917) until September 7, 1918, we slept so close together that we could whisper to each other at any time and be heard. In that time we became very well acquainted and were close friends.

"On September fifth there was some trouble in the company and quite a few non-commissioned officers were transferred to other companies in the regiment. 'Andy', as we always called him, and I were not mixed up in the trouble in any way, but because of it I was moved to another section of the company to take the place of one of the men transferred.

"I didn't see much of him after that because both of us had a number of men to look after and we were kept busy. The last time I saw him was on the morning of September 29th, just after we had passed Montaucon. At that time we were being shelled and he and I happened to be together in a shell-hole, waiting for orders to advance. A few minutes later when we moved forward we became separated and he wasn't missed until a day or so after we were relieved on October 1st.

"The company became so scattered during the fighting that we couldn't really tell who was missing until two weeks later. At that time we were not allowed to mention any casualties in our letters, and for that reason none of us could get any word to the relatives of the boys who were killed, wounded or missing.

"At the present time there isn't a man in the company who saw Andy when he died, but there are some of the boys who saw him on the morning of September 30th and then he was going forward. The only information we have of his death is the notice that his body was buried near Montaucon, and none of us can tell whether shrapnel or machine gun bullets were the cause of it.

"Bob Deatrick, who worked on a mill with him several years ago, can doubtless tell you something about him for he (Bob) had quite a few men out on the lines that morning. Of one thing you may be certain, you need never be ashamed of Andy for he was a real man and died like a man, I am sure.

"There was no better soldier in the company, and I dare say the 316th Infantry had no man who was more sincere in his efforts to do his duty. I do not hesitate to say that he was one of the most popular men in the company and while we have only a few now who were with us before we went into that first battle, they all join me in extending to you and your family our deepest sympathy.

"His death was a great loss to us and while we realize that, we also realize that it is nothing when compared to yours."

WILSON REACHES PARIS AT NOON

Arrived To-Day after Short Train Delay. He is in Excellent Health.

READY FOR PEACE WORK

Has been Greatly Benefited by Rest On Voyage. Ready to Plunge into Adjustment Work.

(By Associated Press) Paris, March 14—President Wilson returning to the Peace Conference, after his trip to the United States, arrived in Paris shortly after noon to-day.

The President's train, which had been delayed on the way from Brest, reached the Invalides station at 12:07 o'clock.

The President and the party which came with him from the United States, left Brest for Paris at 11 o'clock last night. They disembarked from the George Washington at 9:45 o'clock. It was a moonlight night.

President Wilson was in excellent health, apparently having benefited by his period of rest since he left here on February 15.

The Presidential party came ashore by an American tug, on board which Mrs. Wilson was presented a bouquet by M. Leygues. There was a little flurry of mist during the trip from the steamer, but this lasted only a short time.

Washington, March 14—A clash between American troops, Japanese policemen and some civilians at Tientsin was reported to the State Department to-day by Minister Reinsch at Peking. The minister said that he had sent his representative to Tientsin to investigate the report. No mention of a raid by American police on the Japanese consulate or the wounding of the consul was reported in the Peking dispatch.

STOCK MARKET

Specialties in Active Demand at Opening. Tobacco Gains.

(By Associated Press)

New York, March 14—Reversing yesterday's heavy selling movement specialties were in active demand at to-day's stock market. Industrial alcohol was again leading at the further advance of three and three one-fourth points in the first half hour. Equipment and tobacco also responded to further inquiry at substantial gains. Speculative shares dominated the market throughout the morning mainly at further advances.

The professional character of the trading was evidenced from the fact that dealing in distillery shares far exceeded the demand for any of the favorites.

RAILWAY CLERKS STRIKE

Fifteen Hundred Walk Out in Atlanta Offices.

(By Associated Press) Atlanta, Georgia, March 14—About 1500 railway clerks employed on the lines entering Atlanta walked out to-day in a general strike in sympathy with the striking clerks of the Nashville, Chattanooga, and St. Louis railway.

The strike began several days ago after a demand by the men for the dismissal of the Federal Auditor, whom they accuse of unfairness in interpreting wage decisions, was refused.

NO AIRSHIPS IN FUTURE WARS

Supreme War Council Decides Provision Necessary. Airplanes to Allies.

COMMISSION TO GERMANY

Peace Conference Debates Conscription. American Experts Find new Problem.

Paris, March 14—The aerial terms of the German disarmament, as adopted Thursday by the Supreme War Council, provide that airplanes and dirigibles shall no longer be used for military purposes. The council concluded that it was not feasible to prohibit airplanes for commercial uses. The drafting committee was directed to make clear the distinction excepting commercial airplanes in the terms incorporated in the peace terms.

All forms of military airplanes are barred to Germany, the only exception being the temporary use until October 1 of 100 hydroairplanes and 1,000 men in gathering mines in the North Sea.

Germany must deliver all airplanes to the Allies and must prohibit the construction of other airplanes until the conclusion of peace, the Supreme War Council decided Thursday in adopting the aerial terms to be imposed on Germany in the preliminary peace. The terms do not decide the future fate of the airplanes, which may either be destroyed or divided among the Allies.

The council decided to send an aeronautic commission to Germany to investigate the question of commercial aerial navigation. Deputy Aubigny, of the French Chamber, will be chairman.

Conscription Problems

The American military experts here, although accepting Premier Lloyd George's plan of prohibiting conscription in Germany and providing for a volunteer army with a long term of service instead, have been giving the subject deep consideration in its possible bearing upon the future military systems not only of Americans, but of the whole world. They are inclined to believe that this is a subject that might properly come before the League of Nations in connection with the limitation of armaments.

The American experts agree with the sentiment attributed to Mr. Lloyd George that if the system started in Germany proved beneficial its extension to the other European countries would be inevitable, as they consider it certain that the labor, socialistic and antimilitaristic parties will demand to be relieved of the burden of conscription and free the young manhood of the nation for full participation in fair competition for the world's trade.

Attention has been given by the American experts to the possible result of the adoption of the German nonconscription plan in the United States upon the projected system for universal military training of the youth of America and the opinion is general among the American experts that it would deprive the plan completely of compulsory features, leaving training in schools optional. They consider, however, that the national guard perpetuated by Congress could be relied upon for a sufficient number of trained soldiers to form the nucleus of any army likely to be required in America in case of the successful working of a League of Nations.

RAILROAD COPS GET INCREASE

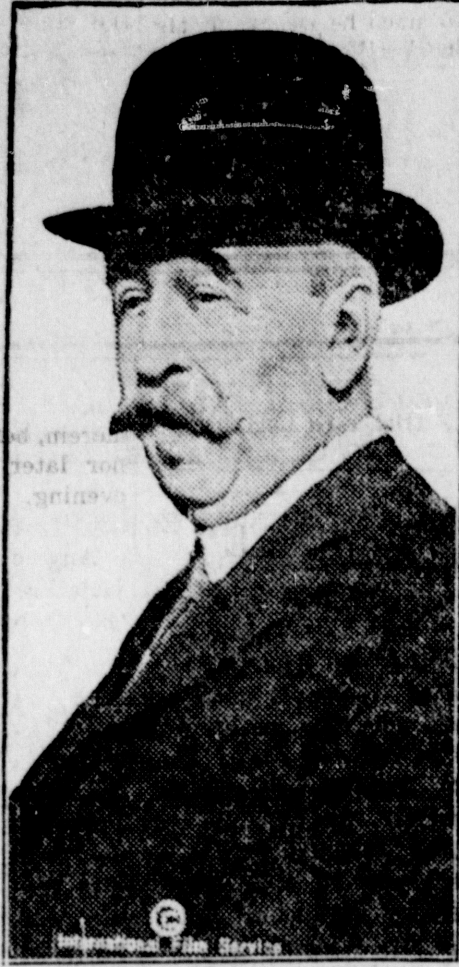

Eight Thousand Men Benefit. The Measure Retroacts January, 1919.

Washington, March 14—Wage increases for approximately 7,000 patrolmen and 1,000 lieutenants and sergeants, comprising the railroad police force, were announced last night by Director General Hines. The increases are retroactive to last January 1, and were said to be in keeping with advances given other railroad employees.

The Director General's order provides a minimum hourly rate of 45 cents an hour and a maximum of 55 cents an hour for patrolmen who are assigned to a restricted territory, with a minimum of eight hours per day and overtime at the pro rata rate for the 9th and 10th hours and time and one-half thereafter. These men formerly received monthly wages ranging from $60 to $110. Under the new rate they receive from $85 to $112 a month on an eight-hour basis.

Proportionate increases, but on a monthly basis are provided for lieutenants and for sergeants whose duties require traveling and whose hours cannot be regulated. The regional directors will have authority to apply the monthly wages according to the responsibility of the individual positions.

MILLIONAIRE CABIN BOY

When the steamship Lurline arrived in San Francisco recently she brought as a member of the crew George Sherman, millionaire of Chicago and Honolulu, en route to Washington to confer with A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, concerning the affairs of the H. Hackfield company, recently seized by the government, and of which Mr. Sherman has been placed in control. Falling to obtain passage on the Lurline when she left Honolulu, because the owners had failed to renew their passenger-carrying license, Sherman made arrangements with the captain to ship as a cabin boy.

HUN DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE

Are Expected to Leave for Paris March 17. Begin Preliminaries soon.

Weimar, March 14—The German delegates to the Peace Conference will be Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, the foreign minister; Dr. Edward David, majority Socialist and first president of the National Assembly; Dr. Max Warburg, Dr. Arthur Müller, minister to Switzerland; Prof. Walther M. A. Schuecking, of Marburg University, and Herr Geisbert, minister of posts and telegraph in the Prussian ministry.

Berlin, March 14—In official circles it is believed that the peace negotiations in which Germany will take a part are very near at hand. It is learned that the instructions to German experts to hold themselves in readiness to leave for Paris March 17, or 19 with the German delegates were based upon a remark made by General Nudant, the representative of Marshal Foch at Spa, in recent negotiations with the German armistice commission. General Nudant is reported to have said that the Allies probably would be able to begin preliminary negotiations with the Germans about March 20 and that the preliminary peace might be concluded by April 10.

AGRICULTURE NOTES

Farm Items from Various Counties of the State.

Lancaster is the wealthiest agricultural county in the United States, and ranks first in Pennsylvania in the yield of wheat and tobacco and in the number of horses. This county contains nearly eleven thousand farms. Reports collected on January 1 show that there were 198,430 sheep in Washington county and 167,937 in Greene county. According to these figures over two-fifths of the sheep in Pennsylvania are found in these two southwestern counties.

Approximately 124,000 tons of alfalfa were harvested in this State last year. This was cut from 48,300 acres which is an average of 2.57 tons per acre from all cuttings.

While there has been very little snow protection this winter, neither has there been much alternate freezing and thawing to cause heaving, consequently the grain is in good condition. Present indications point to large wheat and rye crops in Pennsylvania this year.

A local Holstein-Friesian cattle association has been organized in Cumberland county, and keen interest is being shown in promoting and encouraging and raising of this particular breed.

This is the season of farm sales of personal property and reports indicate that livestock is selling very high, except horses in some cases. The heavy draft horses as usual are selling well.

Clinton county is competing with York for the second place as a tobacco production county.

Soft and red maples are blossoming two to three weeks earlier than normal, hence orchardists should be prepared for early spraying of fruit trees.

LEAGUE WILL BE FOUGHT HARD

Non-Partisan Association Formed. Lodge and Knox Lend their Approval.

WILSON WANTS CRITICISM

Will Try to Convince American People that President's Plan Cannot be Accepted.

Washington, March 14—The covenant of the League of Nations will be more thoroughly discussed by the American people before it is finally accepted than any question since the free coinage of silver was before the public eye in 1896. President Wilson expressed the hope that the friends of the league would earnestly bring its merits to the people and the opponents of the league are equally determined that the people shall hear their side.

To-day it is announced that the members of the Democratic National Committee have been directed by President Wilson to invite the members of the Republican National Committee in their respective states to co-operate in arranging massmeetings all over their states at which there will be joint debates on the league. In some states the Republican National Committee have acceded to the suggestion, in others there has been no response.

To-day a number of senators who have opposed the League of Nations most vigorously on the floor of the Senate met in the office of Senator Reed, of Missouri, and organized a League Opposed to the League of Nations. Among those who attended the meeting were Senator Borah, of Idaho, who is accepted on every hand as the leader of the opposition, and Senator Poindexter, of Washington, who made the first address in the Senate against the league.

Lodge and Knox Approve Senator Lodge wired from Boston that he was in full accord with the purpose of the meeting and Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, who is also out of Washington, notified Senator Borah that he approved of the new organization.

George Wharton Pepper, of Philadelphia, one of the foremost constitutional lawyers of the country, also attended. After the conference it was announced that Henry Watterson, former publisher of the Louisville Courier Journal, would be president of the organization with Mr. Pepper as directing supervisor. It was said that many senators who have been active in opposition to approval of the league constitution would support the organization.

It was finally decided to form an organization whose principal purpose will be to convince the American people that the present covenant of the League of Nations could not be accepted, but that if the country is to enter a league its sovereignty must be fully preserved. Moreover, this new organization will vigorously oppose the incorporation of the covenant of the League of Nations in the treaty of peace, but it will insist that peace be fully established before a League of Nations is formed.

FAVOR RURAL TEACHERS

Governor Says Primary and Rural Teachers Underpaid.

Representatives of the school teachers of the State, who are working for higher salaries, have decided to abandon the Weaver bill, providing for a 25 per cent increase and requiring an annual appropriation of $10,000,000 from the State. Their energies will be placed behind the Woodruff measure, which it is estimated would cost the Commonwealth between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 a year.

Governor William C. Sproul made it plain in his inaugural address that he did not favor this legislation, principally because it would take too large a revenue. He said that while he favored relief all along the line, he thought the first duty of the State is to the underpaid primary and rural teacher.

TAX REPEALER UP

Mercantile License Bill Debated Three Hours.

The Horne bill to repeal the mercantile license tax was debated for three hours Thursday afternoon before the House Ways and Means Committee and efforts made to reach a compromise on a measure after some legislators had declared that the bill would have a hard time passing this session.

The measure has appeared biennially and has been strenuously advocated, but every time the amount of the revenue the law produces has resulted in the act being kept on the books.

TO INVESTIGATE HIGH COAL PRICE

Governor Sproul Calls Attention of Attorney General to the Situation.

Harrisburg, March 14—Governor William C. Sproul last night addressed a letter to State's Attorney General Schaffer, asking what powers are vested in the state government to inquire into the cause for the proposed advance in the price of anthracite coal after a mild winter, and suggesting that if it is necessary to secure authority, so the matter might be referred to the legislature, now in session. The letter reads in part:

"Following an unusually mild winter, when the consumption of coal, and especially of the domestic sizes, has been below normal, and at time when the slackening of industry is certainly having its effect in the use of steam sizes of anthracite, I am at a loss to understand the commercial or economic justification for increasing the price of coal now. I understand, indeed, that some of the mines in the anthracite region are on short time on account of the lessening demand for coal, and yet we are advised that some of the principal companies have already announced a very material increase in the price at which anthracite will be sold to consumers. I am writing to inquire just what the powers of the state are in this matter.

"Coming right at this time when the efforts of patriotic people everywhere are directed toward restoring the cost of living to a normal basis, and when we are all bending every energy to provide means of employment in order to help stabilize labor conditions in the country, it would seem to me that there would have to be extraordinary good reasons to justify an increase in the cost to our people of such a necessary and comfortable existence as anthracite coal."

LIQUOR FORCES DISAGREE

Bills for Beers and Wines Mysteriously Disappear.

No liquor legislation was introduced by the "wet" forces in the Legislature this week. It had been announced that bills to permit the sale of beers and wines would be introduced in the House Monday night. "Dry" members eagerly awaited the introduction of the measures and scouted a mystery when they failed to appear.

It developed Thursday that the bills did not appear because the liquor forces could not agree on the provisions to be incorporated in the bills. The wrangle among the liquor people held up the introduction of the measure. They will likely be put in next week if an agreement can be reached. As soon as the bills are introduced a fight between "wet" and "dry" members on the floor of the House is anticipated.

MAY CHARGE EIGHT CENTS

An order permitting the Carlisle and Mount Holly and Cumberland Railway Companies to charge an eight-cent fare and dismissing a complaint filed against that rate soon after it was entered on August 25, 1918, was issued by the Public Service Commission Thursday.

The eight-cent fare was announced after a seven-cent fare had been in effect a time and the opinion says the figures at hand "serve to show that the eight-cent fare in the present instance has apparently not acted as a detriment upon the car rider and has increased in a substantial manner the revenues of the company which the latter claims as absolutely necessary under existing conditions if the public is to have the benefit of proper and adequate service."

BOLSHEVISM IS ASSISTED HERE

Flippant Attitude Toward Law is Cause. Let Aliens Return from Whence they Came.

Philadelphia, March 14—Bolshevism in this country is encouraged by a "flippant attitude" toward law and those placed in authority, according to Judge John M. Patterson, of the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas, in an address here recently.

"The Bolshevik movement has found root here because thoughtless remarks are made about the men we have selected or appointed to public offices. If these people don't like the President of the United States, or if they cannot show him the respect to which his position entitles him, let them move on," continued Judge Patterson.

"Although I am a Republican," said the Judge, "I heartily approve of many of the things which President Wilson is trying to do for the country. He was elected by the sovereign people and should be supported by all loyal Americans during his term of office. Of course, we have a right to discuss matters affecting our welfare, but that does not mean that we should attack those who differ with us.

"If those who came here because they could not tolerate conditions in their own country find that our ways are not to their liking, let them return whence they came. Our public officials should be respected until they prove corrupt and then there is a lawful way of removing them."

HARD COAL PRICE WILL TAKE JUMP

Governor Sproul Starts Inquiry Concerning Cause. Raise will Start May 1.

Philadelphia, March 14—Anthracite coal dealers to-day were disinclined to comment on the action of Governor Sproul in the inquiry of Attorney General Schaffer in finding out what powers are vested in the state government to inquire into the cause for the proposed advance in the price of anthracite coal which was made by the producing companies.

The Governor said that some of the mines are on short time due to slackening of coal demand and that he was at a loss to understand the commercial and economical justification for increased prices at this time.

Governor Sproul's action was prompted by the announcement of several of the large companies that present prices would continue until May 1, then ten cents a ton would be added each month for five months. One large independent company announced it would make the increase fifteen cents a month.

Introduced Chrysanthemums.

It was in the autumn of 1808, that the first bunch of chrysanthemums was seen in Paris, brought by a Frenchman from far-off Japan. His first care was to present them to the Empress Josephine, who was delighted with the flowers and introduced their cultivation in French gardens.—Christian Science Monitor.

Mallory Hats

"Oh, boy!" said he. You've no idea how good it is to get under a regular hat again. No more tin hats for mine. Show me the best in the house."

He went out wearing a blithe new Mallory—one of the Spring Models we had just taken out of the box.

They're beauties—new shapes; new shades; new ideas in trimmings. And Mallory quality. Better come in—soon—and have a look. A big new lot of caps just came in too.

"We will not build crooked roads where it is going to be possible to construct straight ones", he said, "and it is almost always possible to build straight ones."

PEN MAN JOINT BURNS TO GROUND

"Red Hen" Famous Grog Shop is no More. Soid Liquor of Doubtful Character.

Destruction by fire recently of the "Red Hen", a joint in the vicinity of Pen Mar Park, where liquor of a doubtful character was disposed of for many years, removes from the resort sections the last vestige of an enterprise of this sort. The "Red Hen," as it was called and familiarly known, had been the scene of much debauchery, and was for several years an eye-sore to many persons living in the vicinity or visiting the famous Blue Ridge resort.

The building was erected several years ago by the late Benjamin Shockey. It was the last of the grog shops to close, however, and its destruction by fire was the fate of all the other hotels and liquor stores at Highfield, Blue Mountain and near the Cascades. All of these large hostleries, with a barroom attached, were burned to the ground by incendiarism or otherwise.

Eiker Brothers are remodeling their bone-mill shed and converting it into an engine shed, bone-mill and chopping house combined.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Plank and children, Ruth, Ray and Clyde, visited at the home of Mrs. John Kugler, on Sunday.

With the death of Margaret White Pryor, Liberty Hall school loses one of its most devoted pupils. She was always kind and congenial to her schoolmates; ever obedient to her teacher, and attentive to her studies. Her character was irreproachable, making her a typical and ideal girl. In all school work she was always willing to take her part, and her exceptionally bright mind made it possible for her to commit long poems and recitations with little effort, as well as to lead her class in all branches. Even though she has gone from our sight and her chair in school is vacant, her memory yet lives and the character which she possessed has left an impression on our minds which can never be eradicated. The pupils and teachers of Liberty Hall school join with her family in their sad bereavement.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets, while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

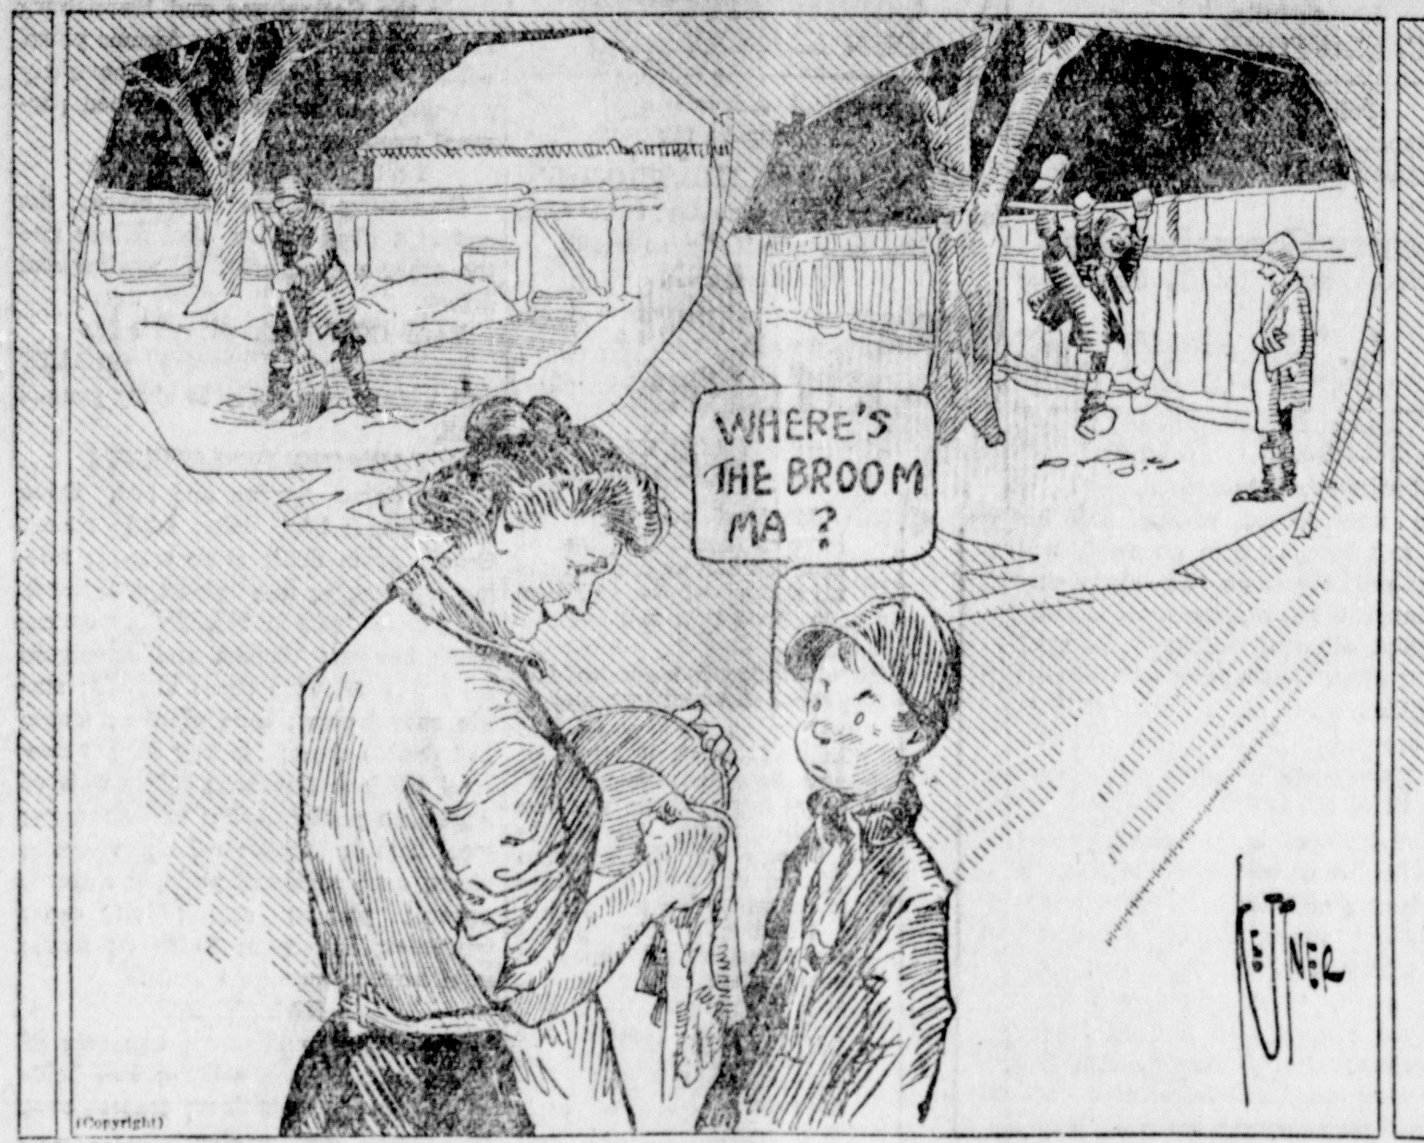

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

HAMMOND IDEA IS O.K.

Crewless Ship Proves to Be a Success.

Army and Navy Experts Report That Wireless Control is Possible.

Washington.—Army and navy experts have reported the device of John Hays Hammond, Jr., for radio control of surface craft to be sent laden with explosives against enemy ships a success, and predict similar results with submerged craft showing above water only wireless antennae.

Results of tests were made public in connection with the new fortifications appropriation bill, which carries $475,000 for construction of an experimental submerged boat.

Secretary Baker wrote the house appropriations committee, which is considering the bill, that the joint army and navy board was "convinced of the practicability of the control" of the surface craft, and added that there had also been demonstrations of the possibility of the control of a craft completely submerged except for an air intake pipe.

Before finally deciding on the purchase of the patents for $750,000 the board desires further experiment with the submerged craft.

Construction of the submerged craft, which will be about 30 feet long by 7 feet in diameter, will take two years, according to Mr. Hammond, who told the committee he has spent ten years and $400,000 on his invention.

"There is no question whatever as to the ability to control with great accuracy the torpedo or carrier," said a letter of Maj. Gen. F. W. Coe, a member of the board, "so long as it is a surface vessel or has any antennae above the water, by direct radio waves, either from shore or from an airplane."

With a shore station having a height of 80 feet above sea level radio control of the craft has been demonstrated to the board up to a distance of seven miles, but General Coe said that if controlled from an airplane there was no limit as to distance except the propelling power of the torpedo or the boat that carried it or the airplane.

COURTESY IS REWARDED

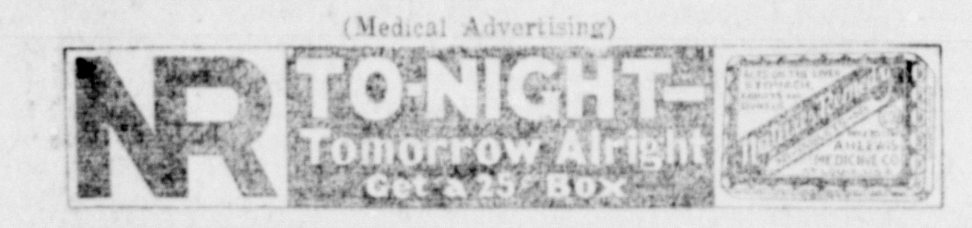

Young Man Gave His Sleeping Car Berth to a Woman.

Herbert Wildermuth, a young man of Tripp, S. D., has discovered that courtesy does not always go unrewarded. He is in the service of his country, with his station at Key West, Fla. On his return to his station from a brief furlough with the home folks in South Dakota, he gave his berth in a sleeping car to a woman, who had two children, and who, because of the crowded condition of the car, could not have secured a berth if it had not been for the generous offer of the young South Dakotan.

Wildermuth slept in the seats. A few days after his return to his barracks at Key West a gentleman called upon him and introduced himself as the husband of the woman he had befriended in the sleeping car. He stated he was glad to meet a soldier who had been so kind to his family.

It developed that the man was a resident of Florida and could use a man of Wildermuth's ability and offered him a handsome salary to work in his establishment when he is discharged from the government service.

He Wanted Furlough.
"Charley dead; come at once," telegram to sailor at Great Lakes, Ill., said. Asked furlough. "What relation was Charley?" asked the C. O. "Don't know," boy replied. "Been family horse 19 years."

PAINS AND ACHES YIELD QUICKLY TO SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Are you tormented by Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica or any of those aches that require a counter-irritant? Then let the soothing, warming application of Sloan's Liniment stop the pain by drawing the blood away from the congested part.

It is the pressure on the nerves by the blood rushing to the inflamed muscle or joint that makes you ache. So when Sloan's Liniment relieves the swollen blood vessels by setting up a counter-irritant on the surface, the circulation is equalized, sympathetic nerves all soothed, and soreness or lameness disappears.

Sloan's Liniment is probably the counter-irritant most widely used to overcome painful inflammation in cases of neuralgia, sore muscles, wrenched joints, strains, bruises, cuts. Rubbing is not required. This clear, clean liquid is easily applied as it does not stain the skin.

OFFICIALS APPOINTED FOR THE VICTORY LIBERTY LOAN

"HOME RULE" AND ACTIVE HELP PLEDGED TO DISTRICT

W. MORGAN CHURCHMAN

JOHN H. MASON

LEWIS H. PARSONS

UNDER a policy of "Home Rule" for all component parts of the Liberty Loan Committee, John H. Mason, Director of the War Loan Organization, predicts that the Victory Liberty Loan will be oversubscribed in the Third Federal Reserve District.

Philadelphia is the center of the Third Federal Reserve District, which includes Pennsylvania east of Johnstown; New Jersey, south of Trenton, and Delaware. Letters are being sent to all Liberty Loan chairmen in towns in this district asking them to arrange for a meeting of workers to be addressed by representatives of the headquarters.

Mr. Mason announced, however, that chairmen in various localities will be helped and advised by the parent committee, but that no one would be required to adopt any measure not thought advisable by the authorities in that particular locality.

Plans are now being completed to have a representative from Philadelphia visit all sections of the District, and help the local committees in their campaign. Mr. Mason announced that he expects to make a speaking tour himself through the district in the near future.

"I do not feel that we in Philadelphia have done enough in the past to help our fellow-workers throughout the district," he said. "Our problems and theirs are not identical, and the only way we can help them is to have a representative study their problems at close range."

E. McLain WATTERS

The Newly Appointed Officials For Victory Liberty Loan in the Third Federal Reserve District.

THE Executive Committee and Directors for the Victory Liberty Loan Organization in the Third Federal Reserve District have been appointed at a meeting in the headquarters, 45 South Broad Street, Philadelphia, and the resignation of Lewis H. Parsons, Director of the Third and Fourth Loans, owing to the press of personal business, was accepted.

No director was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Parsons' withdrawal. John H. Mason, Director of the War Loan Organization, which handles War Savings stamps as well as the Liberty Loans, will assume active control, assisted by the Executive Committee and three Associate Directors.

The following statement was issued by Mr. Mason:

"Governor Passmore has decided the campaign for the Victory Liberty Loan shall be carried on by the War Loan Organization of the Third Federal Reserve District, which really means that it will be practically no change, except in name."

"I have but one request to make and that is to bespeak for the Fifth Loan the hearty co-operation of every man and woman who worked so splendidly in the campaign last autumn for the Fourth Liberty Loan."

"I think we all fully realize that we still have a great task before us—the task of raising the additional money to meet the expenses of the war which have been incurred by the government, and for the return of our victorious armies to American soil, together with their demobilization and civil rehabilitation. The Victory Loan will give us the opportunity to finish the job in a true American way and I feel that until this is done our duty to our splendid heroes, as well as to our country, will not have been performed."

"May I take this public way of stating that those who will be in charge of the forthcoming campaign will need the assistance of every worker who took part in the last loan and many more in addition. I feel perfectly confident that we can count on their loyal patriotic support."

The personnel of the Executive Committee is the same as in the Fourth Liberty Loan, as follows: E. Pusey Passmore, Chairman; Walter C. Jann, Jr., Horatio G. Lloyd, John H. Mason, Mrs. Henry D. Jump, George Wharton Pepper, Joseph Wayne, Jr., and Lewis Parsons.

George K. Reilly, of the Advisory Committee for the State of Pennsylvania in the Fourth Loan, was forced to retire on account of ill-health, and the press of personal business. His resignation was accepted, and E. McLain Watters, director of the War Savings Committee, was appointed in his place. The other members of the Advisory Committee for the States are: Philomen Dickinson, for New Jersey, and Lewis L. Mann for Delaware.

PLENTY OF "JOBS" FOR EX-SOLDIERS

BUT MOST OF THE RETURNED WARRIORS ARE NOW LOOKING FOR "POSITIONS."

DON'T WANT MANUAL LABOR

Senator Lenroot Stirs the Southerners to Protest—American Army Engineers Are Tired of Making Roads for the French.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington.—Employment of soldiers who are discharged from the military service is one of the questions that have given rise to a great deal of discussion and there seems to be considerable difficulty in solving it. The general belief is that there is employment for any number of men at this time. At least it is said that there never was such a demand for labor of a certain kind, but it is manual labor. A great many people are having difficulty in finding men to do work and the agricultural districts, according to reports, offer plenty of jobs for men if they are willing to take them.

During the debate on the good roads proposition in the post office appropriation bill it developed that a large number of soldiers were being used on roads in states where there are large encampments. It was claimed that this good roads appropriation would afford employment for soldiers, although quite a number of senators scouted the idea that the returned soldiers are going to work as day laborers on the roads. On account of the statement that soldiers still held in the service were being employed on roads a provision was inserted in the bill which makes it mandatory to pay these soldiers the same wages that other men receive for that work, rather than the $30 a month they draw as privates.

Senator Thomas of Colorado told the senate of a soldier who came to him and talked about the many soldiers that were now out of jobs. "They are not looking for jobs," was the comment of the soldier; "they want positions. There are plenty of jobs." It is quite evident that these soldiers do not want to go back to the farm or to drudgery work in shops and mines. It is also apparent that a great many who were formerly in the country districts would like to remain in the cities. All these things are going to make it difficult to find employment for the soldiers when they are discharged.

Once in a great while there may be a little sectional row between the East and West, but it never amounts to anything. The real sectional differences which crop out in debates from time to time are those between the North and the South. Only recently there was a flurry of some proportions caused by a remark of Senator Lenroot to the effect that Southern senators were somewhat irresponsible as to the size of appropriations, particularly when a large amount of the money was expended in the South and nearly all of it raised by taxes in the North. This aroused the ire of several Southerners, who did not mince words in expressing themselves against the utterance of such sentiments in the senate. Lenroot's words were that "representatives in both houses of congress from the Southern states have very little responsibility from a national standpoint concerning expenditures, providing only the appropriations shall be expended in their own states."

Senator Fletcher of Florida in replying said that he "could understand how something of that sort might be said on the stump in the heat of a political campaign for political purposes, but a statement coming like that in the senate goes beyond all bounds of propriety or of justice and is wholly unwarranted."

Although Theodore Roosevelt is dead the big stick which he invented has not retired from business, according to Martin Dies, the independent Democratic member of the house from Texas, who has been saying just what he thinks. It was while the naval bill was under discussion and the very large naval program was the immediate question before the house that Dies remarked: "The discussions of the bill and remarks of the chairman of the committee on naval affairs rather disclosed the fact that we need the enactment of this naval program, the largest in the history of the world, because we want to go into the league of nations with a bigger stick than anybody else who comes into the league."

A letter received from a soldier in Europe connected with the engineers notes the discontent which has been expressed by many private soldiers who have returned. He says he has been 11 months in France and although the war is ended they are still working on the same old job, breaking stones for roadmaking. This letter was shown to a man in the senate who said it was altogether likely that a great many of the American expeditionary force would be retained in France and would help to restore the roads and do a lot of work in rebuilding France before they were brought home. While this may be a very laudable undertaking, it is almost sure to cause a great deal of complaint among the troops.

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK

By CARTER GLASS, Secretary of the Treasury.

"The Federal Reserve system today is the firm base from which the readjustment of after-war enterprises must make the start, just as it was the sure foundation against which the financial storms raged in vain during the entire period of the great world-war. For fifty years we clung to the most unsound banking and currency system in the world. Five times within the thirty years preceding the passage of the Federal Reserve Act financial catastrophe came upon us in the very midst of apparent business prosperity and contentment. These disasters ensued from two fundamental defects of the old system, one an inflexible bond-secured currency and the other an utterly fictitious bank reserve."

"Under the old system we proceeded upon the assumption that the country always needed a volume of currency equal to its bonded indebtedness, and never at any time required less, whereas we frequently did not need near as much as was outstanding and just as often could have absorbed vastly more than was available."

"The business of the country was made to suffer by this rigid currency system in times of stirring development and enterprising activity. It could not begin to meet the commercial and industrial requirements of the country. The total capitalization of the national banks, under the old system, measured their full capacity to respond to the currency requirements of the country."

"Thus, in time of panic, such as that which convulsed the country in 1907, these banks found it impossible to utilize their gilt-edge, short-time commercial paper in exchange for currency wherewith to respond to the requirements of business. Practically all the banks were in the same desperate plight, every one, with rare exceptions, looking out for itself, with no other source of supply."

"The Federal Reserve Act revolutionized this wretched currency system. It substituted for a rigid bond-secured circulating medium, unresponsive at any time to the commercial requirements of the nation, a perfectly elastic currency, based on the sound, liquid commercial assets of the country, responsive at all times and to the fullest extent to every reasonable demand of legitimate enterprises."

"It is a currency which comes forth when required and is canceled when not needed. The amount is ample when business is active and only enough when business is lax. Every dollar of it is based on a stable commercial transaction, whether of a mercantile, industrial or agricultural nature, fortified by a 40 per cent gold reserve, by the assets of a great banking system, by the double liability of member banks, and by the pledged faith of a government of a hundred million free citizens."

"The Federal Reserve Act corrected the old vicious bank reserve system by establishing regional reserve banks and making them, instead of private banks in the money centers, the custodians of the reserve funds of the United States; by making these regional banks, instead of private correspondent banks, the great discount agencies of the country; by requiring these regional banks to minister to commerce and industry rather than to the schemes of speculative adventure. "Under the old regime we had been taught to believe that the balance of the country was dependent on the money centers. Under the new dispensation the fact was quickly revealed that the money centers are dependent on the balance of the country. Under the old system the country banks were subservient to the money centers, for only there could they resort for rediscount favors. Under the new system it is no longer a question of favor; it is purely a question of business."

"The whole startling contrast between the old system and the new may be summed up in the single statement that in 1907, under the old system, the failure of two banks in New York city precipitated the greatest financial panic that ever afflicted the nation. Under the new system, the greatest war of recorded history failed to create a ripple of alarm in the banking community of the United States."

"In the panic of 1907 New York could not let a country bank have $50,000 of currency to meet the ordinary requirements of trade. In 1915 New York loaned two European nations $500,000,000 for the prosecution of war."

"Today, the United States has bought back from foreign nations in excess of $3,000,000,000 of American securities, has loaned foreign nations $11,000,000,000 for purposes of war, has floated on Government account $18,000,000,000 of Liberty Bonds and War Savings Certificates, not to mention the billions of dollars of Treasury certificates of indebtedness issued in anticipation of the Liberty Loans."

"The twelve reserve banks alone have engaged in commercial rediscount operations approximating $1,500,000,000 and have made open market purchases amounting to $1,818,000,000. The regional banks hold a gold reserve of $2,100,000,000, an increase over last year of $402,000,000. Notwithstanding the splendid provision made for the tremendous military and commercial needs of the country, the system maintains today a gold reserve of 64 per cent behind its notes and of 33.7 behind its combined note and credit issues."

SAFETY IN FUTURE SOUGHT BY FRENCH

THEY ARE FOR LASTING PEACE
BUT DEMAND THAT HUNS BE CURBED FOR ALL TIME.

TOO MUCH LENIENCY FEARED

Propaganda of Forgiveness and "Sissy Bolshevism" Now Apparent in America Dictate Those Who Suffered
Most From Brutalities.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—In its final form the League of Nations parchment probably will show some of its present wrinkles smoothed out by the hand of France. France is the hand for the job, so men seem to think, by all that is righteous and becoming.

One has to ask to be forgiven for getting into the field of the first person, but I was in France for a time in 1915 as a newspaper correspondent, and I have just returned from France where I served as a major in the United States army. I saw the desolation of the land and it is easy enough for one who has seen the horrors in northern France to understand why the French people want things so fixed that the "horror action" never can be repeated.

In loose writing about the League of Nations one thinks of it as being inclusive of all things which pertain to the various settlements consequent on peace. The League of Nations in itself will not straighten out all the crooked things which have come in the wake of war. France wants a peace which will safeguard her and this kind of peace is, in a considerable sense, a thing aside from anything which has to do with the political issues involved in the final form of the League of Nations.

The French people through their ministers have sanctioned the outlines of the proposed pact for enduring peace, but they will have more to say before matters are finally shaped.

France learned a line of an American hymn from the Y. M. C. A. and the Salvation Army singers: "The Half Has Never Been Told." The glories of Zion were the theme of the line, but France can take the words and apply them to the desolation of its northern lands.

Wants Lasting Security From Huns. In France I talked with scores of Frenchmen about the coming day of peace. Some of them told me that they would rather France should be destroyed than to have peace under the continuing shadow of the sword. Some Frenchmen are idealists, but their idealism rarely gets the better of that sound common sense which tells them that the Hun, the enemy of centuries, is not to be converted into friendship between the firing of the sunset and sunrise guns.

This sister republic of ours is opposed to standing armies, despite what people have said of the "militaristic French." France wants Germany put where she cannot threaten the fields and the vineyards to the west of her, and the Frenchmen believe that nothing but the insistence of power, now in the hands of the allies, can insure the safety of the republic through the years to come.

In France I found the abiding fear of the French people to be that Americans, whose influence they knew would be almost supreme, would allow this idealism to lead them to be gentle with the Huns, who never were gentle in any walk of life. A saucer of lukewarm milk does not convert a tiger cat into a tabby.

I have been through countless miles of the stricken territory of France. Any man who sees it, and knows it as the scenes of attested horrors above and beyond mere destruction, can have no feeling in his soul of anything but hate for those who pillaged.

Fear Too Much Forgiveness. It is to be noticed that most of the stalwart preachers of forgiveness of today are not to be found in the ranks of the stalwarts who went forth to war. The American soldiers who toiled on their shoulders the homeless and fatherless children of France are not begging today that the barbarians who made them homeless and fatherless shall go unpunished.

What France fears and what some leaders of American thought fear, is that the poison of intellectual anarchy, the "sissy Bolshevism," to borrow a phrase, may have its poisoning effect on the minds and hearts of all Americans, and that the "love your enemies" of the Lord may be so wrenched from the base of its real meaning that in the end the Huns will not get what they deserve.

To summarize the thing, it can be said that what France fears, and the fear has been voiced to me personally many times within the last six months, is that a propaganda of forgiveness which seemingly has as its basis the Sermon on the Mount may lead the world to so far forgive and forget the acts of the German empire that France will remain in the shadow of the sword as it has in the past.

The French apparently wish, like other peoples, to make it absolutely certain that concord shall continue among the nations of the earth, but France especially wants the great pact so to be made that the power for evil shall be taken away from a people whose hands for four years have been given over daily to all evil.

Disqualified.

"I should get a divorce at once," said Mrs. Hittm-Upp, Jr., "but I haven't sufficient costumes to last through the prolonged trial that my social standing demands."

CLIP YOUR COUPONS

The Saturday Evening Post gives the following advice:
It seems that many holders of Liberty Bonds are not collecting the interest when it falls due. If it is a small bond the half-yearly interest is a small sum. Perhaps it does not seem to the holder worth bothering with. Perhaps he does not know how to do it.

Every six months an interest coupon, attached to the bond, falls due. It is as good as money at any respectable bank. Cut it off and hand it in at the bank. Then put the amount into War Savings Stamps or into another Liberty Bond subscription.

We have found bondholders who failed to clip coupons with the idea that by letting the government keep the interest money they were helping on with the war, but that is not the way to do it. When interest falls due the Treasurer must hold in readiness a sum sufficient to pay it all. By collecting the interest and investing the proceeds in stamps you take it off the Treasurer's hands and clean up the books.

Take your Liberty Bond investment seriously. Clip the coupons when they fall due.

In re petition of D. M. Wolf, guardian of Kate O. Wolf, of Gettysburg, Pa., a person of weak mind, for an order for public sale of real estate.

Notice is hereby given to George W. Sherman, Kate LaMotte Sherman, Charles Sherman and Charles Deitrick, next of kin of said Kate O. Wolf, and to all others wheresoever resident who may be next of kin of said Kate O. Wolf.

That at a Court of Common Pleas in and for Adams County, held on March 12th, 1919, the following petition was presented to said Court: "The petition of D. M. Wolf, guardian of Kate O. Wolf, of Gettysburg, Adams County, Pennsylvania, respectfully represents:

That the said Kate O. Wolf on February 16th, 1917, was adjudicated a person of weak mind by Your Honorable Court, and on said date your petitioner was appointed guardian of the estate of said Kate O. Wolf.

That your petitioner has given bond as guardian of the estate of the said Kate O. Wolf, in the sum of Thirty Four Thousand ($34,000.00) Dollars, being double the value of the real and personal estate, as ordered by the Court, which bond has been approved by Your Honorable Court.

That the said Kate O. Wolf on February 16th, 1917, at the time of her adjudication as a person of weak mind, was seized and possessed of a lot of ground in the Borough of Gettysburg, Adams County, described as follows:

All that lot of ground situate in Gettysburg Borough, Adams County, Pennsylvania, improved with a large brick dwelling house, tannery and other buildings, bounded on the North by York Street, on the East by Stratton Street, on the South by a public alley and on the West by a lot formerly of Samuel G. That said real estate is of the probable value of Seventy Five Hundred ($7500.00) Dollars.

That the said Kate O. Wolf does not desire to continue living in said real estate, for the reason that she desires to make her home with a woman who has been her housekeeper for many years and who is now married.

Your petitioner therefore representing that it is to the interest and advantage of the estate of Kate O. Wolf that the above mentioned real estate be sold, respectfully prays Your Honorable Court to make an order authorizing and empowering your petitioner, as guardian of the said Kate O. Wolf, to sell the above described real estate at public sale, upon such terms and conditions as Your Honorable Court may direct.

And he will ever pray.

D. M. WOLF

Wolf, to appear and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, at which time and place you may be present in person or by counsel, and at which time the Court will hear and consider all matters presented in behalf of the opposed to said petition.

RETURN TO CIVIL LIFE ISN'T EASY

MENTAL READJUSTMENTS ARE NECESSARY FOR MILLIONS OF WAR WORKERS.

FEEL THEY MUST KEEP GOING

Soldiers Want to Hike Somewhere and Throw a Few Hand Grenades—
Women Are Seeking New Fields of Endeavor.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—In congress every day during the winter some one or other had something to say about the economic and industrial readjustments necessary because of the effects of war. No one had anything to say about mental readjustments, but that they are necessary before some millions of men and women settle down to the proper equilibrium of life no one in Washington seems to deny.

Possibly it is more marked in the capital of the nation than elsewhere, but the men and women here of the civilian population seem to be "floating mentally." What is so marked in the men and women in civilian attire here is ten times more strongly marked in the men and women in uniform who have seen actual service. It must be remembered that many women donned nurses' or canteen workers' garb and served abroad.

It probably will not take a long time to restore the warriors and workers to their normal condition, but today the men and women of Washington who have engaged in war work at home are wondering what they are going to do next, and are certain that they must do something in the future that is more strenuous and more useful than anything they did prior to the outbreak of the war.

All Wish to Keep Busy.
Organizations of men and women here are casting about for new fields of endeavor. It was only the other day that 600 women met at a big dinner party to discuss what their sex must do to keep all of its members usefully employed for the years to come in the odd hours which can be spared from the duties of household or business, that is, business for those women who are actively engaged in it in some capacity or other.

The soldiers, officers and enlisted men, who are arriving in Washington from the other side are afflicted, if affliction is the right word, with the desire to continue "to get a move on." If one dared use the Hun expression, even in translation, this would be called wanderlust. Every soldier who saw service abroad has it, and hundreds of thousands of those who saw service only in the camps of the United States have it.

I met a brigadier general of the United States army on the street a day or two ago. The last time I had seen him was on the edge of the Argonne forest in early November last, where

FARM PROFITS WILL AID LOAN

Rural Business Men Are Well
Able to Take Up Share of Bonds.

More than ever before the American farmer finds himself in the position of comfort and prosperity which is his just due. Lean years are for him no longer.

Last year the average of farm earnings broke all records. Six million farms in 1918 produced crops worth $12,280,000,000. This year it is estimated that a greater wheat acreage than ever will be shown. Naturally, the farmer is making the most of his opportunities, and with guaranteed wheat prices and higher prices for everything he grows, the outlook for him is most encouraging.

And Europe will furnish a market doubtless for all he can grow, including his fat hogs at $50 and his steers at $150 per.

It would be interesting, if possible, to assemble comparative statements of the farmers' bank accounts now and five years ago, and, incidentally, the list of mortgages that have been cancelled. And it would be more interesting perhaps to have a statement of the Liberty Bonds now in the hands of these tillers of the soil.

For it has been charged that the farmer as a buyer of Liberty Bonds has cut a sorry figure. Which may have been the case in spots, but not generally.

And very soon the farmer will have an opportunity to prove that he is not without loyalty as well developed as any man's. For another loan is almost in sight, a loan that will draw heavily upon its aid.

Because of his price guarantee of $2.26 a bushel, Uncle Sam stands to lose from 50 to 75 cents upon every bushel of wheat harvested next season. Having made this guarantee to the farmer, he will make it good. That is Uncle Sam's way.

But what is Mr. Farmer going to do for Uncle Sam in the next Liberty Loan?

In every Liberty Loan to date the farmer, as a class, has bought less bonds than men in other prosperous classes. He has been able meantime to get more sugar, and coal, and everything else upon which the government put a restriction, than others have.

Of course, there were exceptions to this rule. There were whole communities, whole counties, and in a few instances, whole States, where the farmer showed signal patriotism. Among those States were Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

The big question now, when he stands to cash in at a 25 per cent premium upon his wheat crop, is what is he going to do next Liberty Loan drive?

And it interests every one of us, for in the finality we will pay the bill. The chances are flour prices will still keep right where they are.

Europe is buying wheat right now from the big accumulations of the last two or three years in Argentina and Australia at something like $1.50 a bushel.

Without the government guarantee the American farmer would be getting no more than this price now.

And if he is to save his face, if he is to retain the respect of the American public, if he is to continue to be regarded as the backbone of the nation, he must do his part in this next bond issue.

Some Liberty Loan officials are suggesting that the farmer should buy a $100 bond for each 100 bushels of wheat that he sells to the government. He has made the profit and should have no hesitancy in taking a high grade security in payment for the difference between what the government gets and what he gets for his wheat.

Repentant Patsy.

Minnie and her little dog, Patsy, were playing in the kitchen. Minnie's mamma was cooking supper and stumbled over Patsy, causing her to drop an egg on the freshly scrubbed floor. She put Patsy out on the porch and seated Minnie in a corner. In a few moments Patsy scratched on the door and began barking. Minnie said to her mother: "Mamma, can Patsy come in now? He's sorry. Don't you hear him 'pologizing?'"

No Rabbits in Palestine.
Among the hoofed animals found in Palestine are the fallow deer, a European type, gazelles and other antelopes, characteristic of Africa. The wild bear, still common, seems to have had for its Biblical companion Behemoth the hippopotamus, though this became extinct ages ago. His pigmy relative of the rocks, the little hyrax, is a well-known beast of Palestine, and is also of African type, Africa being the home of the family. This is the 'coney' of Scripture, but there is no rabbit in Palestine.

AU REVOIR

By LILLIAN E. HALPERIN.

With her neat but worn coat buttoned to her chin, her shabby, black hat drawn down to meet her thoughtful brows, and with two books under her arm, Rolla was running down the stairs of the Home Boarding House. Then something happened. Something serious enough to bring tears to her grave eyes. The heel of Rolla's slipper caught in a treacherous place in the ragged carpet; she clutched the air, dropped her books, then fell in a dejected heap.

To add to her discomfort and humiliation a young man in navy blue came to her assistance.

"Thank you, I'm not hurt," she said curtly.

With flaming cheeks and close to tears, Rolla hurried out, and not until she had turned the corner did she stop to brush the dust she had gathered in her mishap from her skirt and sleeves and to pull her hat in place. When she reached her destination—the Murray Hill school—and gilded in between the swinging doors, the tense expression on her face relaxed and she breathed a sigh of relief.

Rolla had two passions—her mother and education. She never passed a school without a sigh, and witnessing a graduation of a high school class was at once a joy and an anguish to her. In her heart she hugged a hope that some day she would take up the broken thread of her education; and now she had moved into this boarding house because it was nearest to "her school." She could slip away to the evening course as soon as she had returned from the office and swallowed her meager supper.

And how she loved those hours she spent among the serious evening students. They were the only bright spot in her drab, lonely life.

"Good evening, Mr. Franklin," she murmured, as she passed the tall principal, whose towering head and shoulders she could see above the moving throng of students.

She offered this greeting nightly though she never received nor expected an answer; not that Mr. Franklin would purposely ignore her, but because he never heard her low voice.

On her way home after school that evening she ran full tilt into a sailor who politely lifted his white cap, while the confusion she had felt earlier in the evening returned to her. She felt a sense of shame at her ungracious deportment toward this man, and she made a desperate effort to mend it now.

"I—I thank you—for you must pardon me," she stammered.

"Perfectly all right," he murmured lifting his cap again. Then, with a smile and pointing to her books, he said: "Studying French?"

Her embarrassment was forgotten in a moment, and she felt as if she were conversing with an old friend. He had struck a common note and she had answered, and soon they were "lost" in books.

"I'm trying to have some one teach me the meaning of a couple of words too. Need it for 'over there,' you know," he told her.

Rolla was on the point of offering what little advice she could, when suddenly she remembered that he was the friend of the quiet girl on the second floor.

"I went to see the Great Lakes Naval station. Our boys make a wonderful showing, don't they?" she remarked.

"Yes," he agreed.

Rolla began to thaw out in spite of herself because of the boy's wholesome frankness.

"Do you know," she found herself saying, "I fancy I saw you there?"

"You might have; I was in the letter 'A' in 'America' and in 'Y' when we formed the word 'navy.' You must have recognized me by my white cap."

They both laughed.

"You call here often?" she remarked irreverently.

"Yes, I come to visit Alice regularly," he answered.

She bid him a sudden and cold "good night," and ran up to her room, resolving to avoid him in the future. To see him was not right toward the quiet Alice.

When school was dismissed next evening and she was making her way out she noticed Mr. Franklin in conversation with a sailor—the sailor!

A few minutes later as she turned the corner to her home she heard some one repeating her name. She turned to find the sailor greeting her. He surprised her into cordiality.

"How do you happen to come to my school?" she demanded.

"I know the Murray High school pretty well. I taught French there; besides, I am a nephew of Mr. Franklin as well as of Uncle Sam," he laughed.

"But you said you wanted to learn French?" Rolla gasped.

"I do. I want to learn—oh, so much—the real meaning of love and 'home.' And since the first day I saw you I knew—I felt that you—that I wanted you to teach me. Will you, dear?"

Rolla's face whitened and her eyes flamed.

"And the girl upstairs?" she reminded.

"You mean Alice?" he asked. She nodded.

"Why, little sister Alice will be the happiest girl to own you as a sister—my little—Rolla."

Ten days later the sailor's wife and sister were waving not farewell, but "au revoir" to their hero.

Applause is the spur of noble minds; the end of the world is the beginning of a new one.

When packing an old trunk or box, list each article, package or roll on a sheet of paper and fasten to the top of the box or trunk, or use a memorandum book for all designations each receptacle. Then when waiting an article to use refer to the list, thereby saving time and trouble.

To Carry Heavy Loads.

One way of carrying two buckets of water with the least possible expenditure of energy is the hoop-carrying method of Macedonia. There a small boy will carry a man's load by walking inside it hoop which keeps the weight free from the body and distributes pressure.
